how to receive a massage

Massage may not be a part of your contemporary cultural experience. You may feel uneasy or shy about receiving your first massage. For that reason we've put together a list of guidelines that should put you at ease and assist you in receiving the maximum benefit from your massage session. After receiving your first, we're confident that you'll have no such hesitations in the future.

- * Tell the therapist about areas of your body that are injured, sore or tense.
- * Mention any medical conditions such as high blood pressure, heart problems, headaches, varicose veins or recent surgery.
- * If you have any type of infectious disease such as a cold or flu, or a skin rash, it is important that this is mentioned as massage will often increase the health risk and discomfort brought about by the ailments.
- * During the session, close your eyes and allow yourself to relax as completely as possible. Focus your attention on breathing slowly and deeply.
- * Allow the therapist to move your limbs into position. Be limp like a rag doll and do not try to help by moving your arms, legs or head unless the therapist requests your assistance.

Finally...tanning made simple!

How do I prepare for my sunless tanning treatment?

For best results: shower, exfoliate the skin and shave if needed. This can be done either the night before or the morning of your tanning treatment.

What should I wear to my tanning session?

You can wear your undergarments or a swim suit just as you would at the beach. Or you may wish to eliminate tan lines completely.

What should I do after my session?

Wear loose fitting clothes and shoes (preferably dark colored) to put on after your tanning session so the solution does not rub off before it has time to set. It is suggested to wait up to five hours before showering (the longer the better) in order to allow the solution to completely react and form its golden brown color.

How long will my tan last?

Your tan can last up to six days or longer depending on your activities, skin type and how you take care of your skin. Your tan will gradually fade as your skin naturally exfoliates. With follow-up applications, you can maintain your tan indefinitely.

How can I maximize my tan?

Dryer skin exfoliates faster than oily skin. Keep you skin moisturized. Hydrated skin is essential to maintaining a longer life to your tan. Use a moisturizer daily. Airbrush tanning is a safe and sensible way to keep a tan year-round and is great for any special occasion or just to add a healthy glow to your face and body.
